Our Water

Water. Our most precious resource.

Until 15 Apr 2012

If you were in control of Australia's water, how would you use it?

Learn all about water and delve into the different ways of using and preserving this vital resource.

Explore Australia's unique water situation - from an urban, agricultural, industrial and environmental perspective in this new exhibition featuring 28 interactive exhibits.

Take on the challenge to make decisions about water and examine the consequences of the different uses (and re-uses) of water in Australia.

Measure how you use water at home and find out different innovative technologies to save water as individuals and households.

Our Water is developed by Questacon - The National Science and Technology Centre, Canberra.

Proudly sponsored by the National Water Commission.

Hi Tim,

'Our Water' is only on display for a three month period at Scienceworks because this was the only period it was available for. The exhibition was developed by Questacon; the National Science and Technology Centre who have commitments to other hosting institutions.
